What happens next

The TDG board will consider your application at its next board meeting and will tell you about its decision in writing or by email. If your application is refused, you may appeal, and your appeal will be considered at a special general meeting.

You can leave TDG at any time by giving the Secretary written notice, signed by you. From time to time the board may ask members to confirm that they wish to remain members. If you do not reply within 28 days, you may be removed from membership.

How we use your information

TDG is required by its constitution to keep a register of members. It records your full name, your address, and the date you became a member. Your email and phone number are used only to contact you about TDG membership and meetings. We do not share your details outside TDG.

Any member or trustee of TDG may ask for a copy of the register of members. Copies given to members may have addresses removed. If you leave TDG, your name and the date you left are kept for six years, as the constitution requires, and your other details are deleted.

To see, correct or ask about the information we hold about you, contact TDG using the details below.
